

What people search to find a cooking class in Taghazout

A client brief for Rabab — Taghazout Cooking Class.
English and French keywords from Google Search Console plus French phrases already used by competing pages that rank.

Prepared 13 September 2026

Property: www.taghazout-cooking-class.com

Languages: English + French (google.fr / French-speaking travellers)

1. How to read this brief

Google already shows who typed what to reach (or almost reach) the website. Those queries are in section 2 — they are real, not guesses. Section 3 lists French keywords competitors use to win on Google. A keyword in this PDF is a target for titles and page text. It is not a promise of page-1 ranking.

French visitors do not type “cooking class”. They type “cours de cuisine”. Until the site has real French titles (or a /fr page), French sites with French URLs will keep ranking above Rabab.

2. What Google already recorded (Search Console)

These are the top queries on the live property. Clicks and impressions are low because the site is still around position 9–10. Impressions mean Google showed the site. Clicks mean someone opened it.

Queries that matter

Query people typed	Clicks	Impressions	Language	Action
taghazout cooking class	2	11	EN	Keep — brand + city
cooking class taghazout	0	19	EN	Priority — most views, 0 clicks
cours de cuisine taghazout	0	9	FR	Priority — main French query
expérience berbère avec cours de cuisine	0	8	FR	Priority — experience wording
rfissa	1	1	EN/FR	Keep — dish name
tamraght cooking class	0	4	EN	Target Tamraght
cooking class tamraght	0	2	EN	Target Tamraght
berber experience with cooking class	0	3	EN	Use in descriptions
tajine taghazout	0	2	EN/FR	Keep — dish + city
food in taghazout	0	1	EN	Low priority

Queries that appeared — do not target

Query	Clicks	Impressions	Why we skip it pick it cook it	0	1	Another brand. Do not copy their name.
date night cooking classes	0	1	Too generic — not Taghazout.
bbq class near me	0	1	“Near me” is local to the searcher, not Morocco.

“pick it cook it” is someone else’s business. Ranking for their name would confuse guests and waste effort.

3. English keywords to keep using

These match how English-speaking guests search. The homepage title now leads with “Cooking Class Taghazout, Tamraght & Agadir” so the three towns sit in the same snippet.

4. French keywords — primary (city + cours de cuisine)

This is how French sites that already rank write their titles (Tayyu Hiking, Targant, Airbnb.fr, Amazigh Hike, Agadir Escapade, Immersi). Start here. One homepage French title can cover Taghazout, Tamraght and Agadir together.

1. cours de cuisine taghazout

5. French keywords — dishes and culture

French listings almost always add tajine or berbère after the city. Rabab already appeared for rfissa and tajine taghazout in Search Console.

3. apprendre à faire un tajine taghazout

6. French keywords — “what to do” (village experience)

These fit Rabab’s offer: a village house above Taghazout, not a botanical garden or Argan museum. Do not target jardin botanique, musée de l’argan / Targant, or Kasbah Agadir — those are other businesses.

8. What this will not do

Putting keywords in a PDF or in a hidden keywords tag does not rank the site. Google needs French text on the page (or a French URL), then weeks to recrawl. The sitemap on the live site must also work (it returned an error on 13 September 2026). Google Business Profile and listings on GetYourGuide / Viator still matter more for Maps than any keyword list.

Next decisions for Rabab: 1) Approve French titles. 2) Fix sitemap.xml. 3) Request indexing in Search Console for Home, Packages, Book, Experiences, Location. 4) Review this report again after 4 weeks in Search Console → Performance → Queries + Countries (France).
