

What was done on your website so more guests can find you

Prepared for Rabab — Taghazout Cooking Class.

Website, Google Search, and Google Analytics are run together
so you can focus on the class, the village, and your guests.

Date: 14 September 2026

Website: www.taghazout-cooking-class.com

English: / French: /fr

For Rabab · Please keep this with your business papers

1. How this is run

Your cooking class is the product. The website, Google Search Console, and Google Analytics are handled for you — including what people type in Google, which pages they open, and which visits become bookings.

You (Rabab)	Handled for you
Host the class and the village	Build and update the website
Answer WhatsApp the same day	Google Search Console
Ask happy guests for a Google review	Google Analytics
Keep Maps photos and reviews fresh	Search titles, French pages, tracking

This report is what is already done. It is not a promise that Google will put you on page 1 this week. Google needs time to recrawl. Paid ads are a later step — we do not turn them on until tracking is proven.

2. In one sentence

Guests can now book in English or French. Google has two real pages for each main screen: English at the normal address, French at /fr, each with its own title and description. The sitemap Google uses to crawl the site was broken; it now works. When someone finishes a booking, Analytics can record it.

3. French is now a real part of the site

Before, English and French shared one address. Google almost always showed English. The language button now opens a French address, so a French search can show a French description.

Home	/	/fr
Packages	/packages	/fr/packages
Book	/book	/fr/book
Experiences	/experiences	/fr/experiences
Location	/ourstory/location	/fr/ourstory/location
Events	/events	/fr/events
FAQ	/faq-contact	/fr/faq-contact

4. New search titles (live)

These are the titles on the live pages. Google may still show an older title for a while. Search Console is used to ask Google to recrawl — you do not need to do that yourself.

English

- Home: Cooking Class Taghazout, Tamraght & Agadir
- Packages: Cooking Class Packages — Taghazout from €65
- Book: Book a Cooking Class near Taghazout
- Location: Cooking Class near Taghazout, Tamraght & Agadir
- Experiences: Tajine, Rfissa & Bread Class in Taghazout

French

- Home: Cours de cuisine Taghazout, Tamraght et Agadir
- Packages: Formules cours de cuisine à Taghazout dès 65 €
- Book: Réserver un cours de cuisine près de Taghazout
- Location: Cours de cuisine près de Taghazout, Tamraght et Agadir
- Experiences: Cours tajine, rfissa et pain à Taghazout

Taghazout, Tamraght, and Agadir sit in the same home title, so people searching any of those towns can see you.

5. Other work already on the live site

Sitemap fixed

Google's map of the site (sitemap.xml) returned an error. It now works and lists English and French pages.

Share photos

Each main page has its own photo when a guest shares the link on WhatsApp, Instagram, or Facebook.

Saturday event for Google

The weekly Amazigh music evening (Saturday, 15:00–19:30, 80 €) is written in a format Google can read.

Packages for Google

The four offers (from 65 €, weekly event, private, Rabab at your villa) include prices Google can understand.

Breadcrumb trail

Inner pages tell Google the path (Home → Packages). This can show as a small trail under the search result.

Language tags

Each page tells Google: English lives here, French lives on /fr. That is how French descriptions can appear for French searches.

Honest review numbers

A fake "500 reviews" mark was removed from hidden code. The page still shows 69 Google reviews. Fake review counts can hurt a site.

6. Google Analytics and Search Console

Google Analytics (GA4)

The public site is connected. When a guest finishes a booking, the site can send that booking to Analytics (no names, emails, or phone numbers). WhatsApp button taps can be counted too.

Where a guest came from

Bookings can store a source (Google, Instagram, WhatsApp, and so on). Ad links will use a small tag on the URL so we can see if a guest came from an ad.

Google Search Console

This is the tool that shows the real words people type. It is already connected and is used to watch queries, countries, and to ask Google to recrawl the new French pages. You do not need a login for this report.

What we watch: “cooking class taghazout”, “cooking class tamraght”, “cours de cuisine taghazout”, and “expérience berbère avec cours de cuisine”. Clicks are still low. That is why this work came before ads.

7. Keywords from the research

A separate PDF lists every phrase. Those English phrases are on English pages. Those French phrases are on /fr pages. Google ranks from titles, descriptions, and text guests can read — not from a hidden list alone. The list is still useful: it keeps English and French searches from mixing.

English (included)

cooking class taghazout · taghazout cooking class · cooking class tamraght · tamraght cooking class · cooking class agadir · cooking class near agadir · moroccan / berber / amazigh cooking class taghazout · tajine taghazout · rfissa taghazout · couscous cooking class taghazout · food in taghazout · things to do in taghazout besides surfing · berber experience with cooking class · private cooking class taghazout.

French (included)

cours de cuisine taghazout / tamraght / agadir · atelier cuisine · cours de cuisine marocaine / berbère / amazigh · tajine, rfissa, msemen, couscous, amlou, pain berbère · expérience berbère avec cours de cuisine · activité taghazout hors surf · que faire à taghazout / tamraght · visite village berbère · excursion atlas.

Not used on purpose: “pick it cook it” (another business), “date night cooking classes”, and “bbq class near me” (not Taghazout).

8. What this will not do

It will not put you on page 1 overnight. Google can keep showing old English text until it recrawls /fr. Larger French sites with years of pages can still sit above you.

It does not replace Google Maps. Guests already in Taghazout often type “near me” and tap the map. Fresh photos and new reviews on your Google listing still matter more for those people than any website title.

It is not Google Ads. Ads are rent: when you stop paying, the visits stop. This work is the shop you own. Ads come later, in a small test around Taghazout / Tamraght / Agadir, only after Analytics shows that bookings are counted correctly.

9. What happens next (handled for you)

1. Keep watching Search Console while Google recrawls English and /fr pages.
2. Confirm that a finished booking appears in Analytics.
3. After that, a small ads test can be designed — people already on the coast, words that include Taghazout or Tamraght, landing on the Book page. No Europe-wide ads for the generic words “cooking class”.
4. Review numbers again in about four weeks: which words showed the site, which countries, how many bookings.

10. What helps on your side

Answer WhatsApp the same day. Ads and Google cannot fix a silent phone.

Ask every happy guest for a Google review (the 69 reviews you already have are a real strength).

If you send new kitchen or village photos, they can go on the site and on Maps.
